Teen Arrest Increases Told WCTU

Speaker for the monthly meeting of the WCTU, held Friday at the Methodist Church, was Rev. Nathan Bond, youth director of the Baptist Church. Rev. Bond spoke on "The Teenager of Today." In his talk he stated that there is an increase in the number of arrests of people under 20 years of age, and a 10 per cent increase in rural crime, as well as a noticeable rise in arrests of teenagers from wealthy families.

He believes that teenage problems are the result of a combination of circumstances, found in the home, school, the church, and in such outside influences as the movies, TV programs, our commercial advertising, and the type of reading material that is published.

He stated that parents have an important part in helping the teenagers to achieve a harmonious and mature personality. Rev. Bond urged all parents to love their children more, to discipline them in a consistent manner, and to give them an opportunity to develop their individuality.
